Well winter is here and they are predicting a big storm for this weekend, but just wait a minute it could change.

Winter can be a really dreary time of year so I have been digging out all of the projects that I never finished. So far I have completed 3 and also started a new one and finished that as well. I like to throw in a new one just to make me feel better. If you have been trying to complete some older projects that have been buried under the new ones, post them on facebook and tag Moonlight Beads so we can all get inspired.

Most likely the January Open Bead Day will be cancelled. I will post it on Facebook in the morning as soon as I make a determination.

I will be here on Thursday and Friday January 27 and 28 11-5, so you can stock up on any beads, kits or supplies for the snow storm. What the heck I'll also throw in a 10% discount for these 2 days.

Hope to see you soon and stay safe and warm.

Flat Chenille Stitch

February 16

$30.00 class fee

All Day

This is an introduction to Flat Chenille Stitch, so we will all be learning something new in this class.

Bring your own beads to this one. You will need either, one color of 11/0 and one color of 15/0, or you could also use one color 8/0 and one color of 11/0, your choice. The 8/0 and 11/0 combination will make a larger thicker bracelet.
